An HRMS (Human Resource Management System) with

- employee
- payroll
- attendance
- tax
- policy
- calendar
- hierarchy
- settings
- hiring
- expense
- asset

These modules can be a comprehensive tool for managing employee information and HR processes. The employee module stores all employee information, the payroll module manages compensation and generates pay stubs and tax documents, the attendance module tracks employee attendance and productivity, the tax module calculates taxes and withholdings, the policy module manages company policies and documents, the calendar module schedules important events and meetings, the hierarchy module displays the organizational structure of the company, the settings module customizes the HRMS settings, the hiring module manages the hiring process and onboarding, and the expense and asset module manages employee expenses and company assets assigned to employees. Overall, an HRMS with these modules can improve HR processes, increase data accuracy, and enhance communication between HR and employees.
